We've all heard a lot about the Information Age and its implications for educational institutions. Here at USD, we have already taken a step we think puts us in the vanguard of the Information Age.

That step is the installation of a new voice and data communications system. To acquaint you with the capabilities of the new system - AT&T Information System's System 85 - a news conference has been scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 13, at 1:30 p.m. in Room 225 of Olin Hall.

Jack Boyce, USD vice president for financial affairs, will explain how the system is being integrated into the over-all campus and educational program. Pete Fellows, AT&T Information Systems vice-president for sales for seven western states, will be present to discuss and show what System 85 is capable of doing.

The news conference also will give you an opportunity to inspect Olin Hall, one of our newest buildings on campus and home of the USD School of Business Administration.

If there's anything we can do to help make your coverage of the news conference easier, please call either Cam or John.

Warmest regards as we're off to a big start on another successful academic year.
